About Figures On European Needs

SENATE COMMITTEE IS SEEKING DETAILS

By JOHN R. REICHMANN
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary of State Marshall told Congress today that the United States should spend about 300 million dollars to aid the Nationalistic government of China.

Marshall made this disclosure in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The secretary appeared before the committee primarily for "cross examination" on the Marshall Plan to help western Europe.

Confined To Europe's Needs
As the hearing opened, Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), committee chairman, said that the inquiry will be confined as far as possible to consideration of the 597 million dollar relief program to ease hunger and starvation in Europe this winter.

But, he said, the picture is so tied in with the Marshall plan that no hard and fast rule can be followed and that many senators desire information on the long-range Marshall plan calling for between 16 billion and 20 billion dollars over the next four years.

Vandenberg announced that the senate's experts were also working on an overall finding which comes (Continued on Page Two)

What is so rare . . . as the saying goes. But for George Paulini, of Boston avenue, picking violets has been one of the unusual events this fall. Many violets are enough for several bouquets were picked in his garden, and what's more, they're still blooming right along!

Persons on Washington street about 4:30 p. m. on Monday were rather amazed to note a large sized cabin yacht proceeding east on the street. It was on an especially constructed truck mechanism, being transported overland.

Merchants of the city have been thanked by the community chest officials for their display of the Red Feather flag during the campaign, and have been asked to take them down for storage until next year's effort.

Robert M. Cowher, of 2210 Delaware avenue, reports this morning that "he has picked a good amount of peas from his garden, this past week end. The peas, planted on August 22, grew rapidly the excellent weather recently experienced having aided them to grow and mature.

(BULLETIN)
PARIS, Nov. 11.—(INS)—L'Intransigeant, an authoritative Paris newspaper, reported today that Russia has successfully exploded its first test atom-bomb and its blast was felt over a 19-mile radius.
A copyright article by John Griggs, dated Prague, said that 280 Soviet atom specialists and government officials were present in the remote Siberian area where the bomb was detonated June 15.
Griggs, who claimed to have "ultra-confidential" information, added that Soviet experts conceded after the test that Russia is "five years behind the Americans in manufacture of the atom-bomb."

Griggs added that although the Russians have discovered the secret of exploding the atom-bomb they have not the slightest chance in the world of manufacturing it on a mass production basis at present.

According to the dispatch, the missile was touched off at 10 o'clock in the morning in the rugged Irkutsk district.

YORK, Pa., Nov. 11.—(INS)—Police said today that the middle-aged man whose body was found in a lover's lane near York was identified as Eugene Hardesty, 41, of New Brighton, a ceramics engineer.

Identification was made by his brother-in-law, G. E. Murray, of New Brighton, who said Hardesty had gone to York Friday in search of a job.

Community Property Law Arguments Studied

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—(INS)—The state supreme court today studied arguments for and against the constitutionality of three new Pennsylvania laws, including the controversial community property statute.
Early decisions were expected in all three cases, the others being laws permitting certain school districts and political subdivisions to levy new taxes, and authorizing insurance companies to invest huge sums for new housing.

Great Legal Talent Argues
The state's greatest legal talent was marshalled as the Commonwealth battled in behalf of the laws.

Principal target was the community property law, which was attacked as upsetting the traditions and court rulings of decades.

Commonwealth attorneys, defending the statute said it was aimed at saving married couples an estimated 100 million dollars annually in federal income taxes.

Opponents of the measure charged that it violated the "due processes" clauses of the state and federal constitutions.

Charge Special Legislation
Target No. 2—the law permitting insurance companies to spend millions for new housing—was assailed as "special legislation for a special purpose, giving special privileges" to a special group of corporate interests.

Attorney General Chidsey defended the law, declaring there is no constitutional bar in Pennsylvania (Continued on Page Two)

(By International News Service)
The state's ten million citizens paused for Armistice Day remembrance and reflection today amid French reports that Russia exploded her first test atom bomb nearly five months ago.

Luxurious Mansion Being Readied For Princess And Philip

Will Be At Least Before Mansion Adjoining St. James' Palace Will Be Ready

LONDON, Nov. 11. — (INS) — Buckingham Palace announced today that Clarence House, one of London's most luxuriously furnished mansions, will be the future home of Princess Elizabeth and her fiancé Lieut. Philip Mountbatten following their Nov. 20 wedding.

However, it was understood that it would be at least a year before the new couple could move into the mansion which was badly damaged during the war.

The announcement gave official confirmation to an International News Service report of two days ago that the four-story mansion adjoining St. James' palace had been designated the royal new-weds' London residence.

Built in 1825 The house was built for the Duke of Clarence—later King William IV—in 1825.

In 1874, it became the bridal home of the Duke of Edinburgh, Queen Victoria's son, when he brought his Russian wife, Marie Alexandrovna, to London. Incidentally, there have been persistent rumors in the British capital of late that King George VI will raise Mountbatten to a duke on the eve of the wedding. The dukedom mentioned most often is that of Edinburgh.

came out of that war, "On Flanders Field," a poem which will gather beauty and significance as the years go by.

In closing, he spoke of the dream of a world at peace for which the men of World War One died. We should live to make this dream effective, he stated.

L. B. Round, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Pottery Company, spoke of the solemnity of the day and hour. He recalled the heights of courage and industry to which America rose on the occasion of World War One and Two, fighting that our ideal of freedom should not perish from the earth.

In war, the God of our Fathers gave us victory over our enemies, but in our striving for peace, he stated, men seem to have left God out of our councils. We should humbly kneel and pray that Our God, working through our own hearts, may use America as the instrument to bring peace to a war torn and weary world, he said in conclusion.

The benediction was given by Rabbi Ivan J. Gruen, pastor of Temple Israel.

A volley was fired by the Perry S. Gaston Post burial escort, followed by Taps, played by Harley Shoaff, 2nd, and Joseph Colalucci, concluding the service.

MARSHALL PLACES CHINA'S AID NEED ABOUT 300 MILLION

binous various reports prepared by the administration on the cost of the plan and America's ability to supply the goods.

Need Two Billion, 897 Million

Questioning Marshall, Vandenberg brought out that the funds that will be needed to fight communism in the fiscal year ending March 31, 1948, will be: Emergency relief for Austria, Italy and France, 597 million dollars; war department needs for occupation, 500 million dollars including 300 millions for Germany's horizon area and 200 millions for Japan and Korea, and the estimated 500 millions for China.

Marshall said in addition there will be an estimated one billion, 500 million dollars needed to carry the Marshall long-range plan thru the three initial months beginning March 1.

This would make a total of two billion, 897 million dollars.

Marshall was accompanied by Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett, who has done most of the state department work in evolving the relief and reconstruction plans.

Ambassador Present

Also present were Lewis Douglas, ambassador to Great Britain, summoned hurriedly home to help in the presentation of the department's case to congress, and Secretary of Commerce Harriman. Harriman's 19-man committee estimated that the United States could contribute between 12 billion and 17 billion dollars to European long-range aid.

In his initial appearance Monday before a joint meeting of the senate group and the house foreign affairs committee, the secretary estimated that the long-term program would call for from 16 billion to 20 billion dollars. The United States would supply the bulk of this money.

Marshall was not prepared to give full details on the 500 million dollar request which the armed services will make to congress to meet the rising costs of the occupation of Germany, Austria, Korea and Japan.

About 300 million dollars of this sum will be wanted to meet dollar requirements in the combined Anglo-American zone in Germany which arises from Britain's dollar shortage.

Atomic Committee Without Comment On Russian Bomb

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(INS)—The Atomic Energy commission said today it would have "no comment at this time" on reports that Soviet scientists had successfully exploded the first Russian atom bomb.

It was learned, however, that commission members were giving careful study to the A-bomb test reports carried in the Paris newspaper L'Intransigent.

In this connection, it was recalled that L'Intransigent six weeks ago carried a report that the United States had exploded a "new and bigger" atom bomb in New Mexico. At the time, the story was branded false by U. S. official spokesmen.

Fumes Kill Two In West Virginia Convalescing Home

Six Others Are Sent To Hospital. Operator Of Home Prevents Greater Loss Of Life

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 11. —(INS)—Charleston police today blamed escaping monoxide gas fumes from a floor furnace for the deaths of two elderly women in a convalescent home in south Charleston.

The deadly fumes sent six others to a hospital, one in critical condition.

The victims of the escaping fumes were identified as Mrs. Roda Estep, 78, of Nitro, W. Va., and Mrs. Barbara Turner, 68, of Hinton, W. Va.

Police said at least a half dozen other persons, employees and patients, escaped possible death by the alertness of Joe Combs, who operated the home.

He sounded an alarm and then, in a semi-conscious condition, crawled nearly 200 yards for help.

simply that we must not forget the sacrifices our dead heroes made to preserve our way of life.

The words were different, possibly, at each memorial service, but the theme was the same.

Then there were parades—big ones in big towns, smaller ones in smaller towns.

There wasn't much different about the parades, either. High school bands, military bands, veterans, city officials—these were the ingredients in each community festivity.

Somewhat Different However

Yes—the memorial services, the parades, the speeches were about the same as on every one of the previous 29 Armistice days—humble, thankful, sincere, simple. Just the right formula for remembering.

Yet this Armistice Day, more perhaps than any previous observance, was somewhat different.

It was different because it found America—and Pennsylvania as an integral part of America—at the crossroads.

There was peace, yet it wasn't a comforting peace.

Disturbing it was a grave fear that the guns soon may roar again, westward and eastward, worlds can reconcile their differences.

There was peace, yet in nearly every corner of the globe there was also a potential firecracker that might explode into World War Three.

And that's why Armistice Day 1947 was different.

That's why thousands of Pennsylvanians who murmured heartfelt prayers of gratitude for their heroic dead might possibly have been thinking: "We are the living, those lucky to be spared the fate of those who died to bring peace to the world. Yet, only they who fought and died have found a true peace. "We the living, still grope aimlessly for it, praying everlastingly that it is still within our grasp."

commodities and eliminate entirely the Morgenthau plan for a pastoral Reich from its foreign policy.

Taft warned that only the most carefully devised program will avert impairment of American economy and increased inflation.

He said: "The best way to stop the spiral of inflation and relieve the condition of the lower income workers is to give a general tax reduction instead of another wage increase."

"Such a reduction would be impossible if we accept the full figures of the Marshall plan."

Death Of Woman Is Being Probed

ALTOONA, Pa., Nov. 11.—(INS)—State and Blair county police today sought to unravel the mysterious death of Mrs. Marie Snyder, 26, who died in her Dun-cannville home yesterday, several hours after she was found bleeding from head wounds on a highway.

Coroner Daniel Replogle said he could not immediately determine the cause of her death. He said the possible causes included a physical attack or a hit-run motor vehicle.

Mrs. Snyder had left Dun-cannville earlier to board a bus for Altoona where she is employed as a domestic.

Students at Union High school in Salinas, Calif., now have to pass a compulsory driving course in order to graduate.

Corn was the chief agricultural crop of Maine for 200 years.

Mr. And Mrs. William H. Grove
Celebrate Sixtieth Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. W. H. GROVE

November 10 marked a very unusual day in the life of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Grove, of 321 Edison avenue, for sixty years ago on November 10, 1887 they were married at the bride's home in Sandy Lake.

Friends and neighbors called at their home during the evening to congratulate them and wish them well on their anniversary.

Mrs. Grove, who before her marriage was Alice McMullen, of Sandy Lake, was one of a family of eight children and on Monday, her only surviving brother, Homer McMullen, and Mrs. McMullen came from Sandy Lake to spend the day.

There were many beautiful flowers about the house, remembrances from friends and neighbors, including a lovely bouquet of red roses from their nephew, Dr. Park McMullen, of Wellsburg, W. Va.

For many years Mr. Grove was connected with the Home Trust of New Castle and later with the Bank of Wampum, prior to retirement.

The Groves' home on Edison avenue was the first house built on that street 40 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Grove are members of the First Presbyterian church. They had two children, Park and Ruth.

Their wedding 60 years ago took place in the home of Mrs. Grove's father and mother, the late Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McMullen, of Sandy Lake. The bride's wedding gown was of pink silk and the groom wore the conventional black broadcloth. The late Rev. Nelson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, was the officiating minister.

As her bridesmaid the bride had the late Miss Etta Williams, of Franklin, and the best man was the late Leo Grove, a cousin of the groom and a brother of the late Mrs. Nettie Grove Matheny, of this city. Sixty guests attended their wedding.

READING CIRCLE NOVEMBER PROGRAM

For the second part of the program Mrs. David Tomkins gave a reading "Thanksgiving Story". It was one tinged with pathos but had a happy ending and Mrs. Tomkins' presentation was much enjoyed by the group.

Roll call answer was "An Unusual occupation".

Mrs. Ira Ramsey presided over the meeting to which members took donations for the Almira Home.

Next meeting will be the Christmas tea on December 8 in the home of Mrs. Arthur Mackey, 11 Laurel avenue.

MOLOTOV ON THE BOMB

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, speaking to Russian communist party leaders on the eve of the thirtieth anniversary of the bolshevist revolution, dropped some remarks about the atom bomb. Said he:

"It is interesting that in the expansionist circles of the United States a new, peculiar sort of illusion has been formed about their internal strength—a belief in the secret of the atom bomb, although this secret has long ceased to exist."

That is a cryptic statement. It appears to say that the bomb has not been a secret for some time and that the Soviet has it. But Molotov did not say outright that the Russians know how to make the bomb. And if they can produce this weapon, and are producing it, why shouldn't he say that in so many words? Why be oblique about it?

The answers are not easy to arrive at. But it may not be a bad guess that Molotov meant to reassure the Russian people, who cannot be too easy in their minds about the course their government is pursuing when this country has the atomic bomb, and at the same time give Americans reason to worry. Whatever the effect on his audience, Americans were not greatly impressed by what he said.

Meanwhile, it is significant that Molotov used this occasion to repeat Stalin's statement that the differences between the Russian and American systems are not an obstacle to peace. Though it was all mixed up with the usual forensics against the United States and the customary praise of the Soviet system, this reassertion of a concept at odds with communist ideology must mean something. It could mean that the Kremlin wants a settlement.

BUSINESS AND TAXES

Ask a merchant or an industrialist or a small businessman what effect taxes have on business, and it will not be necessary to wait long, or listen hard, for an answer.

Ask the same question of a Congressman, who has to raise money somehow, of an economist and a few tax experts and they'll all come up with ready answers. The trouble is that they won't all be the same.

Harvard's Graduate School of Business Administration plans to try to do something about that problem. Under a $175,000 grant from the Merrill Foundation for the Advancement of Financial Knowledge, the business school will make a detailed and exhaustive study of the effects of taxes on business.

The "case method," which was developed at the school, will be used in the study, which will be approached and presented in three parts: A purely economic analysis of cause and effect; a detailed examination of the actual operation of taxes in a wide variety of specific business organizations, and a study correlating the findings of theory and fact.

In view of the increasing importance of the tax question, not only to business but to the whole American economy, the results of this study should prove highly valuable, not only to Congressmen and other interested agencies.

The detached viewpoint from which the business school can approach the problem should enhance the value of the survey.

SCRAP UNDERLIES STEEL PRODUCTION

The most serious problem now confronting the steel industry is the shortage of scrap. According to a spokesman for the industry, "a calamitous blow" to steel production in the United States and to plans for aiding European industrial rehabilitation threatens unless sufficient iron and steel scrap is collected before the crucial winter months. The lack of scrap is the reason some steel mills have not been able to operate at full capacity, and it is doubtful if even the present rate of production can be maintained much longer.

The steel industry is fully aware of the fact that maximum output is vital now to the nation and the world. A serious steel shortage would be felt in all basic industry and in agriculture. It would be a strong inflationary factor at a time when high prices have become our hottest domestic issue. Some time ago, the industry embarked on an ambitious expansion program which will cost well in excess of $1,000,000,000, and will materially enlarge our steel-making capacity. But, if the scrap supply becomes inadequate, the mills just can't get the steel out.

The scrap problem is being attacked aggressively, and promises of cooperation have been given by the government and other industry. Steel is on its toes, and will produce every possible ton at the earliest possible time. But the sources of scrap are largely beyond its control, and it can't do the job alone.

Those who have been criticizing steel for not producing more are the victims of a blissful ignorance. The truth is that the industry has done a fine job under difficult conditions. Strikes made serious cuts in production this year. High production in the future will largely depend on a material considered worthless by countless millions of our citizens—scrap.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

All wraps now have been removed from the Marshall plan for aid to Europe by Secretary of Commerce Harriman's official recommendations.

The net result was expression of firm belief by President Truman's closest international economic advisers that unless speedy assistance is given to western Europe, possibly to the tune of 17 billion dollars, Soviet political expansionism someday will translate itself into a war of aggression against the United States.

Harriman's lengthy, yet crisp and concise report, was noteworthy of several scores.

Skepticism on Amounts

An outstanding point was its skepticism as to whether the 16 European nations represented at the Paris Marshall Plan Conference need or can use the amount of assistance they have demanded.

This recalled the trials and tribulations of the Allied general staff during the war years. It was axiomatic that commanders in the field asked for more men, more ammunition, more planes, more tanks and fuel than actually were required at a given moment.

The late Gen. George S. Patton, Jr. was a great exponent of this approach. He believed with near-fanaticism that it was far better to have far too much than one shell too few. His argument almost invariably was laid on humanistic if not logistic grounds. For he maintained that while bombs and shells and gasoline were expendable, a human life was not.

Need For Scrap Doubled

Also extremely important was Harriman's doubtful attitude regarding the western European nations' need for scrap, especially as this country, the great arsenal and warehouse for all, is short itself in this industrial essential.

It appears from the Harriman report that the Paris delegates showed a tendency to mirror themselves in the glass of vanish glories rather than in light of the harsh realities of the moment.

In other words, they scaled their demands upon something approaching their zenith in perfection of production, instead of on the basis of what must necessarily be slow hard-fought recovery. His report expressed doubt that under present conditions the European countries could absorb the volume of raw material they are asking.

Red Domination Feared

On top of the list, however, is Harriman's blunt notice that if western Europe is not maintained inside the Democratic camp by American assistance, Soviet domination is inevitable.

History has shown that domination, even if only political, has always been a fairly certain precursor of war.

The United Nations charter is based upon an assumption that human nature is subject to change and reformation.

Harriman takes inferential issue with this contention.

This is a realistic report that commands attention of the world.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

Last night my wife and I went to see a picture called "Miracle On 34th Street" which, in two hours, attempted to answer a question which was definitely settled many years ago in a brief but famous editorial in the New York Sun.

A little girl by the name of Virginia had asked the Sun editor: "Is there a Santa Claus?" And, in a few words she was told that, of course, there is a Santa Claus and, if there were not, this would indeed be a very sad world.

I, for one, have always believed in Santa Claus, and I hope that I shall never lose my belief in him.

Christmas will soon be here again, and once again the world, the turbulent and crazy world in which we live, will, for a few days, be the world it was when we were children.

Once again busy and worried men will be just fathers, husbands, friends and neighbors.

Once again women will forget their worries and cares and be just mothers and sisters and wives.

Once again, for a few short days, there will be love and kindness and unselfishness. There will be laughter and joy and all of us will be children, and fifty-year-old men will play with toy trains and children will sit in their grandmothers' laps and sing Christmas carols with them.

Who do you think is responsible for all that?

You certainly don't think it's Mr. Macy or Mr. Gimbel or Mr. Woolworth or whoever runs the stores in your own town.

No, indeed. It's Santa Claus!

In that picture was a little girl, a very precocious little girl. Her mother had taught her not to believe in anything she could not see. She had no use for fairy tales. She wanted facts.

And when Santa Claus appeared among them they didn't believe that he was really Santa Claus. They arrested him and put him in an institution.

But finally he convinced them all—the little girl and her mother and everybody else.

And how did he convince them? By kindness. By love. By all the qualities which were born into the human being—into every human being—but which we lose in the turmoil of living and making a living.

But he didn't convince them until it was almost too late—until Christmas Eve, to be exact.

And so it is with most of us. We wait until almost Christmas Eve to show that we do believe in Santa Claus—to give full sway to all the love and kindness that is in us and that is dormant throughout the year and comes back to us for only those few short days of the Christmas season.

There is a Santa Claus; I assure you there is.

Why must we send him back to the frozen North right after Christmas? Why can't we let him stay with us throughout the year and keep us warm and young?

Hints On Etiquette

It quite often happens that a son wants his father to be his best man at his wedding. It is quite correct to have him. Some girls even ask their mothers to be their bridesmaids.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

We think it wise to look around occasionally and see how others are doing, so yesterday we took a little trip into a metropolitan area and were very much surprised to find a tremendous crowd of United States citizens flocking into the retail stores and jamming almost every counter. People were not looking . . . in case you are wondering how many more days there are, that is shopping days of course, until Christmas we have taken off our shoes and have counted up to 36. It seems that people today are not waiting for the last minute but are starting a well planned buying program.

But even more interesting than watching the people buy is watching the people walk around metropolitan areas. Of course the same could take place in New Castle but at this particular time we were very much interested in watching those who have adopted the latest style "new look". From patrons of the store to clerks in the store we were amazed at the way the "new look" appears when it has been given considerable thought and planning.

Some of the mademoiselles who have attempted to dress according to the dictates of the fashion stylists must spend many hours before their vanity mirrors. After looking over many of these latest creations that were worn by the big city girls we find ourselves even more confused than before . . . sometimes we like the idea and sometimes we just plain don't like it. Perhaps it's the individual who wears the creation that makes us so confused.

And while in this confused state we did come to a definite understanding with ourselves . . . there is no doubt in our mind about what nation has the most beautiful women . . . the United States of America surpasses all other nations that we have had the privilege of visiting. Maybe some of you are saying a barn that has been lately painted is much more attractive than one that has been left to the erosion of the elements.

But after looking over the metropolitan area and the people that make up that area we came back and looked over the people of greater New Castle and the merchants who operate shops in this community. And again we came to a very definite conclusion. Of the two, our choice is New Castle.

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Observations On Return From Europe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The traveler returning from Europe feels the moment he steps on shore the clash and clang and roar of America's vitality. It assaults him like a wave, and the contrast with Europe is overpowering.

In Europe you have the feeling of a society that is fraying out at the ends. Here you know that we are still winding up to a greater and greater effort.

The 60,000,000 jobs that once seemed to us a distant dream are now taken for granted. Production levels are up to heights never dreamed of in peacetime.

But So Are Prices

But so are prices. And that is the catch. During my three months' absence, the price spiral has roared dizzily upward.

You notice the changes immediately. I gave a washroom attendant a dime as a tip. He looked at it mournfully as though it were a worthless relic of a recently vanished civilization. Without a word he dropped it into a saucer in which there were quarters and half dollars. The dime, I was clearly given to understand, had passed out of circulation.

Anyone who travels in Europe, however briefly, must catch some idea of the terrors of inflation. The kind of inflation spreading in Italy and France undermines all values—economic, social and moral. It is like a creeping plague that saps the life-blood of a nation.

We do not have that kind of inflation in America today. But skilled observers, and among them the president's council of economic advisers, feel that we are certainly not immune from it.

Gray Markets

In fact, some of the beginning symptoms are already apparent. We cannot afford to be snug about Europe's black markets, when our own markets in some commodities are in a gray or a blackish zone. A cartoon in the current New Yorker shows a used-car lot with shiny new cars in the "used" section and next door a department for "used cars" containing jalopies and older models.

Paying a hotel bill in New York, you get a jolt. You are reminded of the European hotel bills that are added up in hundreds of thousands of drachmas or liras or francs. It hasn't come to that yet. But the threat is there, lurking just behind the cash register.

At this point, it seems to me, we come up against the real problem on aid to Europe. The area of agreement on the need for relief and reconstruction is remarkable.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

Prof. Einstein is to be honored for "outstanding contribution to international understanding." If they mean the Einstein theory, it does begin to look clearer than anything the future holds.

When Einstein announced his theory there weren't three people in the country who understood it. . . . Today there aren't three people in the country who understand anything.

Things are so confused that a fellow in Los Angeles says a girl cast a spell over him with a sandwich of potatoes, beans and macaroni. . . . It may have been just indigestion.

These days it should take at least a steak sandwich to charm anybody.

But there are still new worlds to conquer. . . . Three Australian scientists have succeeded in bouncing a radar beam off the moon.

Nothing came of it.

Big Magnolia For Mississippi

By PAUL GALLICO

To the sovereign state of Mississippi, heartiest cong. . . . Of course, I don't really mean congratulations or anything like that. I just mean that we all think that the way matters turned out down there with regard to You Know Who, and the Thing That Happened on a Certain Well Known Date between the 3rd and the 5th of the month that follows October, is just too good. . . . I mean, . . . what I am trying to say is that all of us rejoice with you in. . . . In a way, it's sort of like rushing up to a fellow and shouting, "Hooray, old man. I hear you just got out of jail, your wife who ran away with the chauffeur is back home again and the kiddies graduated cum laude from reform school. Great news and congratulations!"

O. K. But, Not So Loud

He is sure to be glad in a way that you are pleased with his good fortune and that you are taking an interest in his affairs, but he wishes you wouldn't shout quite so loud, or make a point of letting everybody know the gory details of why congratulations are in order.

Anyone can understand why the proud state of Mississippi would be a trifle sensitive about references to the individual from their territory, removed from the political scene, the U. S. Senate and this vale of tears by one of the more merciful acts of God, or references to the even more recent candidacy of a congressman, likewise from the Magnolia State, whose name has the most enchantingly apt and fitting beginning and who announced that he was willing and eager to step into the carpet slippers of the departed one and carry on with his program of sweetness and enlightenment.

So you just don't go charging up hollering, "Hi, there, Miss., old girl. Congratulations on turning the clock ahead and giving the boot to John Rankin. Welcome to the United States of America, and hooray for Senator Stennis." That is a sure way to get a lady's back up.

Much The Same Reaction

Life, logic and native caution are very much the same whether you are dealing with the Missus or the Mississippi. You would not, for instance, hand over a bunch of posies, a box of chocolates with soft centers or a box containing the diamond and emerald clip to the Ever-Loving on the signing of the peace treaty after the big battle remarking, "Here is a present for you, dear, now that you admit you were wrong over the little matter of who flirted with whom in that joint last Saturday night, that the arguments you used were specious, obscure, with a deliberate aim to confuse and at times even illiterate, not to mention approaching the vocabulary of the fishwife, and that you will never do it again."

Go About Matter With Tact

Oh, no, Brother. Not if you don't want to start the whole ruckus all over again. You just hand over the posies, murrur, "Sweetheart, how wonderful you are looking tonight," and thereafter keep your bazoo tightly zipper.

So one wants to go about this matter with a little tact. Congratulations are exactly in order since you then have to detail what for. But on the other hand.

Aw, heck it's too complicated. Mississippi, dear, here's a great big Magnolia to pin in your hair. You never looked more beautiful. I love you.

The World and the Mud Puddles

By KRUG AND WHEAT

Secretary of the Interior Krug, be it remembered, is another New Dealer. He publishes a report of several pages dealing with our resources and the demands for European relief. And being a New Dealer, he believes in spending and spending and spending and hopes that the New Deal will elect and elect and elect. Of course, he believes that foreign aid should be lavishly extended and he does not hedge at all as to what nations are to receive it.

It is not apparent from his report how we are going to give this extravagant relief. Items treated in the report are wheat, fuel, nitrogen, fertilizers, steel, industrial equipment, farm machinery and tractors, petroleum and petroleum products.

Would Export More

When it comes to wheat—the major necessity—Mr. Krug notes that the United States crop for 1947 is fourteen hundred million bushels. He suggests that for 1947-48 it would be "desirable" to export much more than the four hundred million bushels exported in 1946-47. Four hundred million bushels would represent more than a third of the crop, how much more than one-third we can stand is a serious question. Reducing consumption for livestock, as suggested, will reduce the meat, poultry and dairy supplies, which will be reflected in still higher prices to American consumers. Just how "our economy" can continue domestic shortages indefinitely without lowering living standards and creating continuing demands for wage increases Mr. Krug does not inform us.

Domestic Shortages?

We are told that United States coal production this year will approximate six hundred sixty million tons, while consumption in this country and Canada will be around six hundred twenty-seven million tons, leaving a surplus of thirty-three million tons. It is perfectly possible, however, for strikes to wipe out the prospective "surplus" in a very short time. If we export the seventy-two millions suggested, we will have domestic shortages. It is not explained why the United States, where miners' wages are two to three times those in other countries, should be shipping vast quantities abroad, while the vast resources of the Ruhr region are only partially utilized.

I wonder if our glorious dead, Who died in freedom's cause, Can hear What day by day is being said By men who still each other fear?

A second war the world has swept Since that in which they dared to fall. The pledges made to them unkept, And, oh, the pity of it all!

Unchanged, the hatreds old remain. Evil and bitter tales are spread, And now, there's talk of war again, As if forgotten were the dead!

How long, how long until the day When men to plan for war will cease And in good faith prepare the way For brotherhood and lasting peace!

Plan Fund For Retirement Of City Employees

Council convened Monday afternoon in the city building where Property Director Joseph D. Alexander introduced a bill providing for a retirement fund for officers and employees of the city effective two years from now. The measure was referred to committee because there are yet many angles to be clarified.

According to the tentative bill, each officer or employee who joins the fund will contribute three per cent. The city is prohibited from appropriating to the fund more than 3-10 of a mill.

The retirement fund would become effective at the age of 60.

The police and fire departments have their own retirement fund and may not join it. In fact, the measure says it is not mandatory to join. However, if the firemen and police wish to join, they can do so, it was reported.

Mingle With Others

Set the stage so he will mingle freely with other children of about his own age. The nursery school should be very valuable to him.

Never discuss any cute or bright remark or unusual exploit of his before anybody, even in the tot's absence, nor have him display such. Two exceptions to this might be things he creates with his hands or any unusual self-sacrifice for others. Don't encourage him to learn school skills—mastering the alphabet, reading, spelling or number work. Instead, read a great deal to this child from gradually more difficult materials. Appreciate his creations with words and things. Try to answer all his questions.

Train him in ample inhibitions and regard for the rights of others. Provide him with a serene and happy family atmosphere. Guide him in a program that promotes calmness in him.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

In any considerable quantity will have to be made at the expense of curtailed industrial production in our own country, where lack of steel already has been seriously felt. As in the case of coal, wages in the steel industry here are the highest in the world. From a practical standpoint it would seem better business to help develop the steel resources of European countries than to rob ourselves, with resultant shortages and higher prices.

As to exports on any major scale of nitrogen and farm equipment. American farmers will not likely favor the idea at a time when production in both these lines is just beginning to approach demand, especially when scarcities are bound to bring higher prices for these primary agricultural necessities. There may be questioning also of the wisdom of large petroleum exports, in view of unsettled world conditions, with government authorities stressing the probable need of drawing on the Iran area for naval and air supplies.

State Court Upholds Murder Conviction

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—(INS)—The state supreme court Monday upheld the conviction and life-sentence of James Cargill in the first degree murder shooting of Fred Squires, gambling house operator in Homestead.

Federation Of Labor Plans To Organize Political League

NEW EFFORT TO CUT TAX SEEN

(Special to Central Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Expect fireworks at the meeting of 105 American Federation of Labor union presidents in Washington, Dec. 5 to organize the Federation's Political League.

A number of union leaders are dissatisfied with the action of the recent AFL convention along this line and contend that it went contrary to an understanding reached at the executive council pow-wow in Chicago.

That session reportedly agreed to set up a board of 15 union presidents to direct the AFL's political activity. However, the convention made no provision for such a move and the union chiefs apparently will be out of the picture after the Dec. 5 session.

The AFL political campaign simply would be directed by a paid staff, presumably under the direction of headquarters officials. Some of the independent union heads do not want to contribute money to such a setup.

Tax Ax

GOP leaders in Congress almost certainly will take another whirl at passage of the twice-vetted tax cut bill and their efforts quite probably will meet with success, even should President Truman reject the measure a third time.

The bill to be introduced will be the same 10 to 30 per cent cut for individuals, with an added feature — permission to married couples in all 48 states to split their income for tax purposes, thus providing additional savings by keeping their income out of higher surtax brackets. (This practice at present is permitted only in the 10 so-called community property states.)

Two factors are working in favor of the Republicans to give them sufficient voting strength in both houses to muster the two-thirds majority vote necessary to make the bill law over a presidential veto.

First, the community property feature is certain to gain new adherents for the bill, as several senators and some representatives have indicated they would switch from the opposition side when the matter comes up for a vote.

Secondly, and more important politically, some senators and members of the House will want to gain public support by passing the tax cut bill to offset what they believe may be their support for the unpopular but necessary stopgap aid and Marshall Plan legislation.

To many politicians on Capitol Hill, the argument that they should give something to Americans as well as Europeans may prove almost unanswerable.

Disabled Vets

The Veterans' Administration is finding that disabled vets are proving more efficient than their able-bodied fellows.

More than 100,000 disabled veterans are engaged in on-the-job training and their employers report they are more efficient, stick to the job longer, have better safety records and a lower absentee rate.

The disabled vets, handicapped by every conceivable ailment from arthritis to deafness, are training for a multitude of jobs. A few are:

Machinist, tailor, upholsterer, carpenter, cook, room clerk, caterer, auditor, salesman bookkeeper, tool and die machine operator.

PREVENT SPOILAGE IN LATE CORN

Give the late corn some care in harvesting and storing and it may be saved from spoiling.

Since corn dries faster on the stalk than in the crib, leave the corn there until cool weather. This will also avoid heating of the immature corn which occurs in the crib in warm weather.

When the corn is husked, be sure to husk it clean. Husks stop circulation of air through the corn.

Fill the crib gradually. Fill one end partly full and then move to the other end of the crib. Try to keep shelled corn out of the crib. It shuts off circulation air among the ears and prevents the corn from drying. Use a potato or cob fork for shoveling the corn from the wagon or truck into the crib instead of a scroop shovel. The shelled corn will remain in the wagon bed and can be gathered and fed instead of causing trouble in the crib.

McKEESPORT MAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Police said they found him sitting on his bed with the wound in his side and stomach. They explained that Kazmark shot himself because he was "despondent."

The victim and Mrs. Clara Staley, 63, also of McKeesport, were arrested last August on charges they operated an abortion mill. They now are free under bond of $7,000 each.

Armistice Day Warning Given By Sen. Martin

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 11.—(INS)—Sen. Edward Martin said today he believed a "bloodless revolution" was underway in the United States.

He described it as a battle of ideologies between forces leading toward totalitarian ways and citizens interested in preserving the country's freedom heritages during an Armistice Day address at Morgantown, W. Va.

He called for Americans to stand fast in their support of guarantees under the constitution to keep the nation strong enough to force peaceful settlement of the world's differences.

"There are so many today who would change that Republic in return for a little security," he warned. "So many say that there is no danger of the fall of America."

He pointed to the fall of the once powerful Venetians, Greeks, Romans and the modern disintegration of France and Germany and Great Britain's current "struggle for existence" as a warning.

"On this Armistice Day, as a tribute to the men and women of all wars who have sacrificed that we may retain freedom let us resolve that we will work harder and sacrifice more that we may retain the great heritage given us by our fathers," said Martin.

Martin outlined a 10-point program for "loyal Americans" to preserve the country.

It embraced (1) greater production accomplished with better know-how, tools and enthusiasm for work.

(2) Continued government by "majority rule" by prohibiting minority groups from destroying (3) maintenance of the system of two strong parties, (4) greater use of voting privileges, (5) participation of the United States in world affairs with "courage to direct."

(6) Maintenance of working skills as a protection against "cheap labor" (7) Conservation of natural resources (8) Strong army, navy, and air forces backed up by citizen components and "an organized industrial group" as supply service to assure national security.

(9) American leadership in uniting "godly" nations "against the aggressor nations to preserve peace" (10) greater emphasis on religion in America.

BROOMS PLAY PART IN DIVORCE CASES

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—(INS)—Brooms, new and old, have swept three spouses out of their Pittsburgh homes—literally.

Judge Russell H. Adams granted three divorces Monday in cases involving brooms—used for beating, rather than sweeping, purposes.

William Rice was freed of his wife, Elma, when he testified she used the broom on his head instead of the floor; Mrs. Bessie M. Fowler was granted a divorce from Lawrence A. Fowler on the same kind of testimony, and Mrs. Mary Ruth Uravich was divorced from Francis Uravich because he beat her with a broomstick.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11.—(INS)—As the little beauty can tell you herself, the darndest things happen to June Allyson.

Like the other night in nearby Inglewood, where MGM held the preview of June's latest starrer with Van Johnson, "Love Bites Man," which first was called "Virtuous."

The evening had been a big success and June was leaving the theatre escorted by her tall, handsome husband, Dick Powell. Fans lined the lobby cheering June.

Generally exuberant, June was restraining herself, walking calmly towards the street, her head in the air with gracious nods now and then to the idolatrous crowd.

Then came the unexpected moment. There was a little step. June didn't see it. She fell flat on her face.

Burn Bing At Stake

In Hollywood's most spectacular scene in weeks, Bing Crosby has just been sentenced to be burned at the stake.

No, Bing hasn't suddenly become Joan of Arc. He's playing Hank

Martin, the hero of filmland's third version of "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court."

Harry Myers portrayed the Yankee in 1921 and Will Rogers in 1931. Now Paramount has Bing doing it in technicolor.

Bing years ago chains and while the scene is being set up he sings "Down on the Farm," but when the cameras start to turn he protests the cruel sentence of death.

Tony Working Hard

It's just work, work and more work these days for Tony Martin of the golden voice. He's not only starring in "Casbah" at Universal-International, but he's co-producing the picture with agent Nat Goldstone.

Besides that he has his weekly radio program and he's busy recording a flock of records.

This Ladd Likes Work

Alan Ladd is a man who "loves to work" and Paramount is seeing that he gets it.

Alan tells me that as soon as he completes "The Long Gray Line" he starts "The Great Gatsby."

Seven Injured In Two Vehicle Crash

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—(INS)—Seven persons, including a Camp Hill Episcopal minister and four women members of his congregation, were hospitalized at Harrisburg with injuries sustained in a two-vehicle collision near Middletown early today.

The church group was returning from a trip to Philadelphia to purchase dishes for church functions.

Spahis, a term now applied to certain Algerian and Tunisian cavalry troops, originally meant fief-holders in central Asia.

Hillsville Plant Has Filed Petition

Seeks Collective Bargaining Rights
Under National Labor Relations Board

The Pittsburgh Limestone plants at Hillsville, Buffalo Creek, and Anondale, employing approximately 500 persons, have appointed respective committees to represent them, for the purpose of collective bargaining.

The group filed a petition on Monday to the National Labor Relations Board, Pittsburgh, to grant them bargaining rights, in place of District 50, a branch of United Mine Workers.

This, the first case of its kind in the district since the passing of the Taft-Hartley Act, will attract wide attention in view of the fact that John L. Lewis, has repeatedly refused to sign the Communist affidavit. The stand to be taken by the N. L. R. B. will be of great local interest.

Local delegates in the Hillsville plant are: William Petrick, Donato Lupo and Bylius Latshaw. It can not be ascertained at this time, when the N. L. R. B. will answer the petition's demands.

ALTAR-ROSARY SOCIETY TO MEET

Examination at the hospital revealed an amputation of the tip of the small finger, and fractures of the first and fourth fingers of the right hand. He was able to leave the hospital after treatment.

Hon. Orlo M. Brees Addresses Woman's Club At Meeting Monday

Sounding a note of warning against "The Worms Beneath the Bark" of our American Tree of Liberty and our way of life, our representative form of government, and our system of free enterprise, the Hon. Orlo M. Brees, a member of the New York State Legislature since 1940, addressed the Woman's club Monday afternoon at its November meeting in Highland U.P. church.

Terming himself a "grass roots Republican," the Hon. Mr. Brees said that while he spoke with satire and hyperbole for effect, he deeply believes that Americans need to concern themselves more with understanding causes than with expedients. "Americans tend to believe that government can solve all the problems they have to face and say 'there ought to be a law,'" he said.

He deplored the present tendency for government to become increasingly centralized and challenged the idea that we have representative government either nationally or in the state. And in speaking of "the Dewey clique," he told the audience to watch for a "hot fight" in New York state.

Price controls, monopolies, political party hamstringing, are all symptomatic, the speaker said, and need watching. What we need to find, he said, is the middle point allowing the largest measure of individual liberty consistent with the good of all, which must be preserved.

Mr. Brees was introduced by Mrs. Thomas G. Shreffler, program chairman.

To open the program Mrs. William P. Felch sang "A Curious Thing" and "A Prayer for Peace," accompanied at the piano by Edwin Lewis.

During business, over which Mrs. J. Edward Everett presided, two members were welcomed into the club by transfer from other clubs. Mrs. E. P. McNamara and Mrs. J. R. Pringle. Mrs. Glen Carpenter reported a large number of prospective members.

Upon a motion made by Mrs. E. G. Diefenderfer, the club voted to contribute $100.00 to the Cancer Detection Clinic fund and $50.00 to the Margaret Henry Home.

It was announced that the S.O.S. (Supplies for Overseas Survivors) depot will be open today through Saturday, at 10 West Washington street, and any of the city fire stations.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Ralph Davis, Mrs. Frank Bollinger, Mrs. C. M. England and Mrs. Fred Duff.

Next Woman's club meeting will be Monday, December 15 in Highland church auditorium when a Christmas program will be presented for guest day.

WELKER FAMILY ENJOYS REUNION

It was a happy occasion for Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Welker of the Harbor road, when they met for a family reunion on Saturday evening at The Castleton. It was the first time in 10 years that they, with their 12 children, had been together after having five sons serve in various branches of the armed forces and several children living in scattered sections of the country.

A bountiful full course chicken dinner was served with places laid for a total of 30 guests. Later in the evening the group went to the Welker residence for an informal evening.

Attending the reunion from a great distance were Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Smith, formerly of Geny, Ark., enroute to Apollo, Pa., to make their future home, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Welker and daughter Ellen of Wilmington, Del.

Other children of Mr. and Mrs. Welker include Fred, Jr., Russell, Robert, Henry, Mrs. G. T. McElwee, Mrs. John Cater and Mrs. Harry Atkins, all of New Castle, and Elviena, Richard and Kenneth at home. Mr. and Mrs. Welker have eight grandchildren, two of which were not able to attend. Milton Welker of Wilmington, Del., and Fred Welker, III, of this city.

Past Noble Grands Meet
Past Noble Grands of Rachel Rebekah lodge No. 40 met in the home of Mrs. Florence Gillespie, Emerson avenue, Friday evening with a good attendance present.

Plans were made for a fund-raising event next spring. Mrs. Charlotte Conley presided over business.

During the social hour that followed the business meeting, cards were in play with three special guests participating. Prizes went to Mrs. Lillian Summers, Mrs. Eva Drumheller, Mrs. Charlotte Conley and Mrs. Nellie Tribby.

Refreshments were served at the close of play.

WISHNEV-BARON NUPTIALS PLEDGED
Miss Dolores Wisnev of Youngstown became the bride of Frank Baron of this city at a candlelight ceremony in Anshe Emeth Temple, Youngstown, on November 2.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Wisnev of 37 Tod Lane, Youngstown, was lovely in a traditional gown of white slipper satin. The deep bertha neckline was enhanced by a single strand of pearls, the full peplum and gloves falling into a long train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a tiara of white orange blossoms and her white satin confirmation Bible carried a gardenia marker and was showered with white Stephanotis and satin knots.

Her attendants wore identical gowns of pastel satin with matching mitts, fashioned with off-the-shoulder yoke, and drawn to a demure bustle in back. Miss Eutice Wisnev, in shell pink, was her sister's maid of honor. Miss Esther Baron, sister of the groom, and Miss Renee Goldsman, cousin of the bride, in citrus yellow and pale blue, respectively, were bridesmaids. Their bouquets were deeply embedded nosegays, encircled with lace and tulle, and shaded to contrast with their gowns.

Sam Baron was his brother's best man and ushers were Harry Baron and Shepherd Friedman, brother and brother-in-law, respectively, of the groom.

Preceding the service, Mrs. Samuel Small presented vocal selections accompanied by Mrs. Ernest Gottsman at the organ.

Rabbi A. Levi, assisted by Cantor Ernest Gottsman, officiated at the marriage altar.

The dinner for family and friends, which followed the ceremony, was served in Anshe Emeth social hall.

Following the dinner, the bride and groom greeted guests at a reception. Tables were overlaid with lace cloths and decorated with white flowers and greenery. The many-tiered cake was set in a garland of white blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Baron are motoring through New York and Canada for their honeymoon.

Upon their return they will be at home after November 15 at 414 Boyles avenue.

Mr. Baron is one of the owners of the Baron Hardware company chain of hardware stores.

Water Injunction
Case Is ArguedHearing On Petition To Make Injunction Final
In Pulaski Water
Case Heard

Before Judge W. Walter Braham on Monday the hearing for final adjudication in the case of the Pulaski Water Company against Kenneth L. Betts was heard.

This case is one in which the water company claimed Mr. Betts, operating a large fruit farm, had taken the supply of water used by the company for spraying his 160 acre apple farm.

The company argued that by taking the water, Mr. Betts had denied the residents of the district the use of water originating in springs on the Betts property. This water had been leased many years ago to the water company. For the water they had agreed to pay ten per cent of the profits of the company.

Betts defense was that he had not received payment for any water taken. Checks were produced which purported to show that he had received payment. A preliminary injunction was granted in the summer. This hearing was for the purpose of having the injunction made final or abandoned. Judgment will be had later.

Favorable Old Age
Picture In State

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—(INS)—A favorable picture of Pennsylvania's financial aid for persons over 65 years of age was sketched today by the state department of public assistance in its weekly relief report.

In Pennsylvania, the DPA reported, 133 out of each 1000 persons on relief were on old age rolls compared with 254 in the nation.

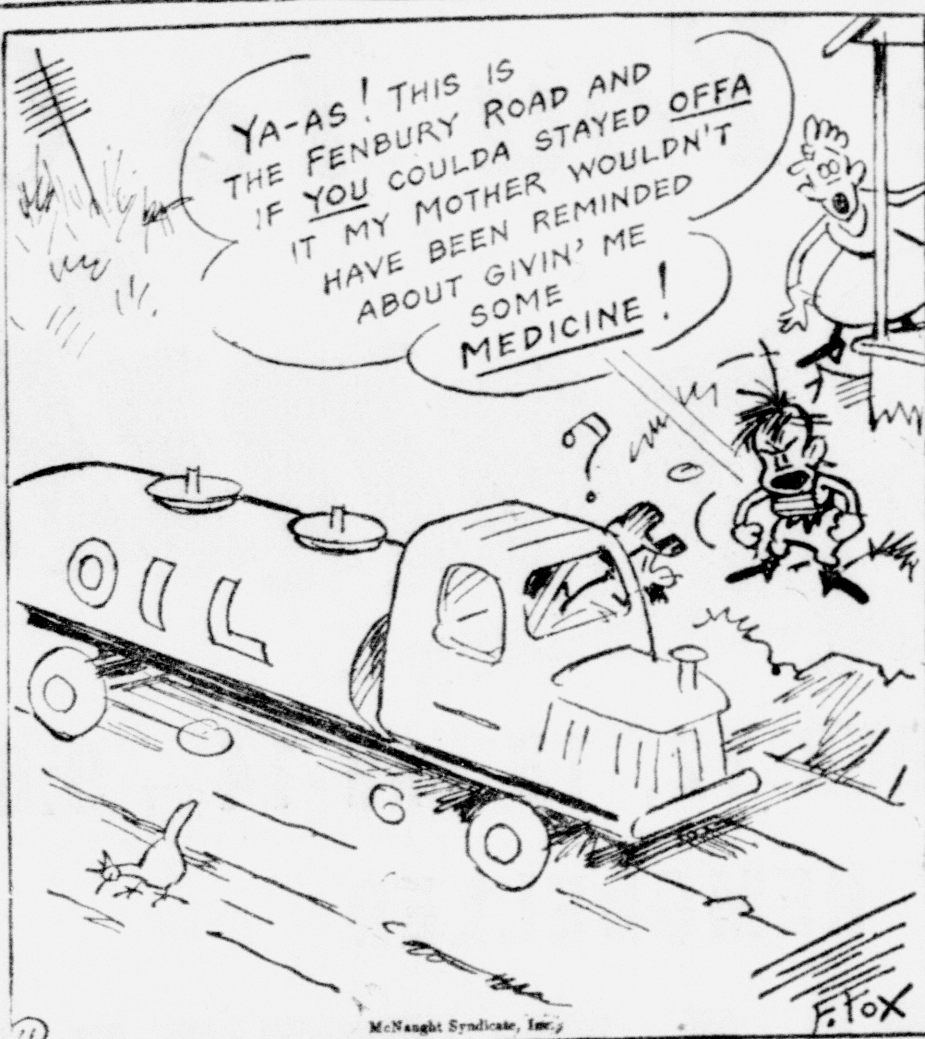

While old age assistance rolls have climbed only 9 per cent in the state, the nationwide increase amounted to 13 per cent, according to the department.

There were 295,299 persons on relief during the week ended November 1, a drop of 247 from the previous week, the DPA reported.

Hilton Pleads For Salvation Of Human
Race, No New War

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—(INS)—State Veterans of Foreign Wars Commander Frank C. Hilton marked observance of Armistice Day and said the seeds for another world conflict must not be sown in the postwar era.

"It is well that we look back to the years following World War I and scan the errors we made between then and World War II," he said. "We should be determined that this time no errors will be made."

"If another war should come it would be too late to save ourselves," Hilton asserted. "We must work out the salvation of the human race not at some time in the future but now."

"We cannot afford to let the seeds of another war be sown as they were following World War I," he said.

Emil Rieve, president of the CIO-Textile Workers Union, said employers of the cotton, rayon and silk weaving workers would be asked to begin negotiations immediately.

The desired pay raise would boost the minimum wage for the textile workers to $1.63 an hour and an average of $1.22 an hour. Mills in Allentown, Bethlehem, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Hazleton, Columbia and Lancaster.

STATE CONSCIENCE

FUND $200 RICHER

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—(INS)—The state's "conscience fund" was richer today by $200 after an anonymous taxpayer met an old inheritance tax obligation.

The sum was received by State Treasurer Ramsey S. Black in an envelope postmarked Phoenixville. An unsigned note explained the money was "in payment of inheritance tax and interest received by sender some time ago." The $200 was the largest "conscience" payment sent to the treasury department in recent years.

New Castle Toy Plant Rushed To Aid Santa

The Roberts Manufacturing company, a local organization with plant and office on Sampson street, which made its debut among the industries of New Castle in August 1946, is at present engaged in turning out on the average of every 16-hour two-shift working day, 1200 "Magne Cranes," a highly fascinating toy, it is learned.

Beginning operations with a dozen or 15 employees last year, Robert Love, one of the partners of the firm, told a reporter that today there are 60 New Castle residents engaged in making the sturdy toy for which a large demand has been created. Besides having markets in the 48 states of the U. S., orders are being filled for dealers in Canada, Mexico, Guatemala, Philippines and Portugal.

With Christmas just around the corner, the assembly line is working at full capacity so as to provide enough machines to take care of the orders that are being received daily at the plant. Very shortly, the plant output will be doubled with the planned opening of an addition.

The idea of the simple toy was born in the minds of the two plant owners, Bob Love and Bob Lesnick, both veterans of World War II. Of a simple design, the heavy gauge steel bodies of the toy are spot welded and riveted together to make them hold together under rough usage. The weight of the deluxe model weighs two and a half pounds complete. The assembly line represents a miniature automobile factory.

JEWISH VETERANS TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Start To Raise Wallace Fund

P.C.A. Starts 'Wallace For President' Move At Pittsburgh Meeting

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—(INS)—The Progressive Citizens of America, Pittsburgh chapter, have launched an all-out "Henry Wallace-For-President" financial drive, and today already have more than $5,000 as a starter.

The campaign was put into gear last night by Dr. Frank Kingdon, co-chairman of the P.C.A. at a gathering of 3,000 members in Pittsburgh at which the former vice president spoke.

A spontaneous cheer greeted an announcement by Kingdon that "a lot of people want to see Henry A. Wallace elected president."

Pick Up Pledges

Immediately, ushers and collectors proceeded to pick up "voluntary contributions and pledges." These ranged from $500 pledges down to $5 bills.

Kingdon said the campaign would be continued. Neither he, nor other speakers, intimated on which ticket they would attempt to place the name of the former cabinet member.

He described Wallace as having "the voice and humanity" of the late President Roosevelt. Wallace was offstage when the fund appeal took place. He took no part in the appeal and he made no mention of his candidacy in a prepared talk to the crowd, nor did he indicate his plans for 1948 in an earlier news conference.

Thanksgiving Day Proclaimed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(INS)—President Truman, issuing a proclamation designating November 27 as Thanksgiving day, asked the nation Monday to observe it "by generously sharing our bounty with needy people" of other countries.

"May our Thanksgiving this year be tempered by humility, by sympathy with those who lack abundance, and by compassion for those in want."

"As we express appreciation in prayer for our munificent gifts, may we remember that it is more blessed to give than to receive."

HIT-RUN DRIVER IS BEING HUNTED

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—(INS)—Police today sought a hit-run motorist whose car yesterday struck and killed a 19-month-old Pittsburgh boy as he sat on a curb in front of his home.

The child, Stephen Orion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wetherow, died instantly of a skull fracture. His four-year-old sister, Renee Susan, was the only witness to the tragedy.

Two Fires Occur Monday Evening

City firemen were called out twice Monday evening by small fires, which might have been more serious, had they occurred at another time.

At 10 p. m., an alarm from Box 115 summoned them to the apartment building at 126 West Washington street, where gasoline poured into the sink to remove grease, ignited and spread, to the wall above the sink. Damage of around $50 was reported by Assistant Chief W. H. Hawk.

Earlier in the evening, an alarm from Box 49 took them to the home of Grover Lytle, of 1107 DuShane street, where an overheated furnace set fire to the floor above, scorching the woodwork. The damage was around $25.

Guardsmen Get Top Pay For Work

Men Of National Guard Now Receive Day's Regular Army Pay For Each
Drill

229TH STILL HAS GOOD RATINGS OPEN

For those interested in earning a little extra money to help meet the increased cost of living, the advantages of service in the National Guard are cited by Lt. Col.
George F. Mitchell, commander of the 229th F. A., with headquarters here. Men interested can make application at the Armory on Wednesday and Friday nights.
Those who are enlisted receive the same pay for each drill night as do those in the Regular Army for a day's work. The pay ranges from $2.50 for a two-hour drill as a private to $5.50 for master and first sergeant, and with the 15-day summer training period, guardsmen can earn from $157.50 to $346.50 per year, Colonel Mitchell states.

Regular Army Tests
Those accepted for service must pass the same physical examination as those accepted for the Regular Army. Men between the ages of 17 and 35 will be enrolled without prior service, but those over the age of 35 years, must have had prior service in the National Guard, Regular Army,
Army of the U. S., Navy or Marine Corps.

They must also be a citizen or have declared intention of becoming a citizen by taking out their first papers. Veterans have the option of enlisting for one to three years and may be enlisted in the grade held when discharged from service if a vacancy in that grade exists. All uniforms and equipment are issued, the same as the Regular Army, and are replaced as they become worn. A locker is provided for each man to store his property.

Opportunities are given for advancement and in addition, social and athletic activities are encouraged in, with the Armory a center of these activities for members and their friends.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—(INS)
—For a fellow who's only 22 years old, Harry Albacker has come quite a way in the realm of legerdemain, with the accent on the zany side.

Baking cakes in hats, pulling rabbits and cards out of pockets—that's all old stuff to Harry.

When he gets on the stage he borrows watches and "smashes"
them, steals underwear from girls, picks pockets, cuts off girls' arms and, in general, gives about as zany a performance as send a Houn-dini or Thurston home talking to themselves.

He has more than a truckload of gadgets which he and his company of four assistants, maneuver and manipulate around the stage.

Mechanical Man
Latest of these is a huge mechanical man, which will be ready by Christmas. "It walks, talks and smokes cigarettes. We're going to try to make it blow bubble gum,"
Harry says.

He's been doing these zany things since he was 11 years old.
"I started it with tricks I could buy from advertisements in comic magazines. Then I gave my teachers a hard time for awhile, especially in chemistry and biology labs, where they said you couldn't do things against natural laws, and I doped out ways to make it seem you could."

"From small things I went to big things, until now some of the equipment won't even fit on trucks."

Then he added soberly:
"There's a good future in it.
People like to be fooled. The five of us (his manager and three assistants) intend to make a career of it."

But he'll probably drive all his associates mad before long.

Executives Club To Hear Of India

India's Place In Family Of Nations
Will Be Discussed By Dr.
Haridas Muzumdar

With two new nations in India, replacing British rule over the 400 million people in this vast subcontinent, the subject of India and how these two governments will assume their new responsibilities has become of vital interest to the people of America. The New Cas-in having secured for their next dinner meeting on November 20, in The Castleton, one who is well qualified to discuss the subject.

The speaker will be Dr. Haridas
T. Muzumdar, friend and biographer of Gandhi, who accompanied him on his famous march in 1930.
Dr. Muzumdar was born in Baroda, India, and after finishing his schooling in the elementary and high schools, attended Bombay university, Northwestern university and University of Wisconsin, where he received his degree of Ph. D. in sociology. He is now professor of sociology in New Mexico Highlands

Liquor Employees Are Meeting In Harrisburg Today

Seek To Revitalize Independent Prewar Organization To Handle Problems

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—(INS)—A group of state liquor control board employees will meet at Harrisburg this afternoon in an effort to revive an independent pre-war organization which handled labor problems.

If the employees' association is revitalized, it will replace CIO and AFL unions currently representing an estimated 400 of the board's 3500 workers.

The meeting will be conducted by Isaac A. Forscht of Hanover, who claimed the labor unions had been of no benefit.

The conference was believed to have stemmed from dissatisfaction over recent wage increases.

Support for the independent organization reportedly came from employees in Lancaster, Franklin, Allegheny and Philadelphia counties.

The association, disbanded in 1942, claimed 1400 members. It operated under a no-strike pledge and was in good standing with the board which met officers once a month. The board reportedly was not opposed to the revival.

Members Of Cast Of Senior Play

Georgianna Heidish

Mary Alice Falls and Georgianna Heidish are two members of the young set in the senior class play, "A Date With Judy". At various times these two, Barbara Winkles and Milti Hoffman, are the ready followers of Judy in her enthusiastic and impossible plans for achieving local recognition as queen at the Big Dance and later for Broadway fame. The date with Judy is of minor importance in her active young mind until she thinks she has thrown it away. Judy, Barbara and Milti three little maids from school, each very familiar and very different from the other two.

Both girls have many interests among the varied activities of the high school and are consequently well-known among the student-body.

Mary Alice Falls is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Falls of East Wallace avenue. Georgianna Heidish is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Heidish of West Clayton street.

Library Books Out This Summer Are Not Returned

Fines Accumulating Is Called To Attention Of Borrowers
At Public Library

Calling to the attention of borrowers of the New Castle Free Public Library, is the fact that there are still 208 books out in circulation, which were taken out prior to the library's closing for renovation last summer.

The adult books number is 130, and juvenile books number to 78, making a total of 208 books.

Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, stressed the point, that each day fines are accumulating on these books, and they should be returned immediately.

Excuse Generally Given
Generally the excuse is given by the tardy borrowers, that they did not know the library had reopened. There has been much publicity given to the library's reopening, and more probable the delay is due to the laxity of the borrower.

The library reopened on October 13, and the summer borrowers were given until October 21, to return all books, except from fines. Since October 21, there is a penalty attached for each book returned tardily, and as the days go on, the fines grow larger. Miss Sterling is urging all borrowers to return the books as soon as possible.

Then too, there is the matter of books put on reserve. Many borrowers have signed cards, requesting a certain book. The cards are now again going out, informing the borrower that the book is ready. If, in the meantime, during the shut-down of the library, any borrower has the book requested before the summer, will he or she please inform the library, so that the book can be released for the next reservation.

Pak was shot through the wrist. His bodyguard was shot in the head and was not expected to live.

One of the gunmen was captured. He was found in possession of a Japanese pistol. His political affiliation was not immediately ascertained.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—(INS)—The Quaker City, cradle of American freedom, was the focal point in the nation today for Armistice Day tribute to the country's heroic war dead.

Secretary of the Navy Royall and Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding general of the army ground forces, led a host of military dignitaries participating in Philadelphia ceremonies honoring the fallen heroes.

Parade Highlights
A parade of 15,000 American Legionnaires, first in Philadelphia since 1941, was another highlight of the day's observance.

At Independence Square, divisional colors will be returned to the 79th infantry division and 14 combat units of the division will be awarded the French croix de guerre.

Winding up the day's activities will be a military ball at which Secretary of State Marshall will be cited as the American who has done most to establish world peace.

Rotary Hears Of Y. Program

Scope Of Work Being Done
At Y. M. C. A. Told By Heads Of Departments Monday

New Castle Rotary members heard an interesting report of what the Y. M. C. A. is doing for the men and boys of New Castle at their noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Monday noon, when General Secretary R. L. Meermans and his staff were guests of the club and spoke of the work of the different departments.

Mr. Meermans told of the birth and growth of the Y. M. C. A. in New Castle, and of its ever expanding scope of work along Christian lines for the men and boys of New Castle, providing wholesome recreation for all ages.

David Gatrall told of what the Boy's Department does, its principal function being to train boys in Christian living and to put them to work as club leaders, group officers, committee members, and to give service in behalf of other boys in school, church, community, the home, Y. M. C. A., and to boys of other lands.

He told of the program in the local Y. M. C. A., and of its different branches.

Colored Branch Progresses

James Dart spoke of the program in the gymnasium, where he has been physical director for the past two years. He also told of the swimming program, where youths are taught to swim, and given advancement as they make progress through the incentive of becoming members of various swim clubs by passing the required tests.

In the summer an intensive "learn to swim" campaign is conducted for all boys interested, where these youths are taught to swim over a two-week period by daily application.

Edward Smith, executive secretary of the colored branch spoke of the work being done in the Shenango street Y. M. C. A., which has only been organized for two years. Mr. Meermans, in introducing him, spoke of how the campaign to raise the needed funds was put over in record time, the colored citizens raising $3,500 of the $15,000 needed to purchase the building and an adjoining lot, used for recreation.

Mr. Smith stated that the Y. M. C. A. now has a membership of 392 and is putting on a program similar to that conducted at the main Y. M. C. A. for men and boys. The boys have been going to camp in the summertime for the past two years, and with the assistance of volunteer leaders is doing a splendid work, as reflected in the reduction of roidism and delinquency in the neighborhood.

Home Economics Groups Organize

Program For Coming Season Gets Under Way In Various Communities Of County

Home Economics groups have been getting organized for the coming season during the past month, where the women of the rural communities have organized to develop a program of the four fields of home economics work. Most interest seems to center in programs of clothing and home management. Women are anxious to get that "new look" in "not so old clothes," as shown by their interest in the request for advice on remodeling garments. Furniture care and repair also interests different groups, and projects in reupholstering and refinishing furniture, as well as the making of slip covers has been entered into.

Food conservation programs are also being developed by the groups. Yesterday, the women of the Pulaski-New Bedford community met at the home of Mrs. Betty Carlisle, where textile painting was taken up.

On Thursday, the women of Washington township will meet at 10 a. m. in the home of Mrs. Jesse Umstead, where the topic of discussion will be "Christmas gift suggestions." This same subject will be developed at a meeting in the home of Mrs. S. G. Byers, of North Beaver township for the women of that community on Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

These meetings are open to anyone interested. Women of other communities interested in home economics subjects who would like to start such projects, can make arrangements with Miss Emmeline Wehlman, home economics extension worker, room 206 Post Office Building here.

The local chapter of the American Red Cross reminded us today that accidents are on the increase in Lawrence county.

First comes automobile accidents, then mishaps involving falls, with the later type resulting in fractures and other injuries which are not only painful but costly. Besides the suffering you may undergo, there is the costly hospital and doctor bills and lost time on the job.

It is better to be safe than sorry, states Mrs. Theodore Castele, chairwoman of accident prevention for Lawrence county Red Cross.

'Cominform' To Meet On Nov. 25

New 'Cominform' Will Meet In Belgrade, Italian Stated For Secretary Post

PARIS, Nov. 11.—(INS)—Belgrade sources said that the new "cominform" will begin its first meeting there Nov. 25 and that Italy's communist leader today is slated to be the nine-nation communist organization's secretary-general.

A dispatch to the Paris L'Ordre from the Yugoslav capital, headquarters of the communist group, said the meeting will last five days.

Drawing Secret Plan Mention of Italy's Palmiro Togliatti as probable secretary-general was considered significant, as Italy is the only country represented in the cominform, with the exception of France, which lies outside the so-called Soviet "iron curtain."

Togliatti is said to be engaged in drawing up a secret plan for European communist activities privately termed the "atomic plan."

Italian communists reportedly conferred with Marshal Tito, in preparation for the meeting, and "unofficial personalities" from Balkan capitals supposedly already have been arriving for the conference.

Army Has Brought 75,000 War Brides To United States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The army said today that it has brought 75,000 war brides to the United States and a very few of them have asked for a ticket back home.

Not that they would get a ticket home even if they asked, an army spokesman said. That would be against regulations. It is strictly a one-way ride.

But army transportation officials say that 95 per cent of these wartime marriages with foreigners are working out happily. This is in sharp contrast to the high percentage of divorces among wartime marriages in the United States.

The reason is simple, according to the army. The prospective bride and bridegroom have to go through so much red tape and examination by army chaplains, commanding officers and others that hasty couples have a change of mind—and heart—before the wedding.

Of 75,000 brides brought from abroad, about 54,000 are from the British Isles and European countries. The rest are from Australia and the Pacific area.

All North American Indians born within the territorial limits of the United States were given citizenship by the Act of June 2, 1921.

World Peace Chances Excellent, Says Stassen

By FREDERIC TUTTLE

(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Harold E. Stassen said Monday that he has a "fighting chance" to capture the 1948 Republican presidential nomination and that he considers the chances for lasting world peace are "still excellent."

The former Minnesota governor made his statement to a news conference as he launched a flying campaign to the west and south to capture delegates to the GOP national convention next year.

At the same time he released the contents of his campaign book "Where I Stand."

Stassen, who with Sen. Taft (R-O.) is the only avowed GOP presidential candidate, reiterated that he counts upon at least 100 of the 130 delegates from the upper Mississippi valley states.

Stassen asserted: "I have fighting chance."

"We consider we have a fighting chance."

The mid-westerner, who in his book proposes that the United States set a peaceful example for the world of "dynamic" economy at work, said:

"I consider the chances for world peace excellent then and they are excellent now. Nothing has happened to change my opinion."

Stassen's trip will take him as far west as Denver and then deep into the south, where Taft is traditionally strong among southern Republican delegates who will go to Philadelphia.

The ex-governor, who has stated he will not accept a vice presidential nomination, explained that the southern Republicans "are most important" and "I want to reach them."

Stassen said that if he could not be the first choice of some state delegations for the presidential nomination, he wanted to be their second choice in event their favored candidates fail.

Stassen, in his 205-page volume, urged a "friendly" but firm policy toward Russia. He expressed belief that eventually, with American economy as an example, the iron hand of the Soviet dictatorship may modify and real freedom may come to Russia.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

Question: I am soon to take a short sea voyage alone. Would it be permissible for me to make myself acquainted with strangers aboard ship and indulge in the sports, events and the dances aboard?

Answer: To a certain extent, conventions are disregarded on shipboard. You may, with utter propriety, strike up an acquaintance with those seated at your table in the dining saloon. In fact, to sit beside them for days and ignore their presence would be far from courteous. Even though the dances and sports aboard, but I would suggest that you form a few acquaintances before these events so that you will not feel lost and embarrassed upon going into the ballroom or to the tennis court unaccompanied. If you make yourself acquainted with those seated at the table with you, you will, through them, make other friendships.

Question: Who stands in the receiving line at a wedding reception?

Answer: The bride and groom and all of the attendants stand in one receiving line. The parents of the bride and groom stand in another receiving line near the entrance to the room in which the guests will come to greet the newweds. The mother of the bride heads the line, next to her comes the mother of the groom, then the father of the groom. The bride's father need not stand in line if he prefers to circulate about the room entertaining the guests. The bride stands to the right of the groom, her attendants stand to her right.

Question: For the sake of those who do not realize that they are wrong, please correctly pronounce:

(1) Coupon. (2) Adult. (3) Secretive. (4) Culinary. (5) Municipal. (6) Acclimate.

Answer: (1) kee-pon. (2) a-dult. (3) seCRE-tive. (4) KU-linary. (5) mu-NIC-i-pal. (6) ac-CL-i-mate.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Auto Workers To Rename Reuther

Convention Delegates To Begin Balloting For Union's Official Family At Convention

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 11.—(INS)—United Auto Workers convention delegates begin balloting on the union's official family today with the re-election of President Walter Reuther on an anti-Communist platform a foregone conclusion.

Major attention of the unionists centers, instead, on the choice of a UAW secretary-treasurer. The election of officers will require at least two days, with a president, two vice-presidents, secretary-treasurer and 13 executive board members to be named.

Normally, the elections would be the super-charged climax of a week-long meeting but this time much of the tension has been dispelled by the abundant power Reuther was shown in earlier votes by the 2,000 delegates.

CIO President Philip Murray endorsed the re-election of the red-headed, anti-Communist leader.

The Addes-Thomas-Leonard faction in the 900,000-member union decided not to enter a candidate against him.

Reuther's re-election by acclamation was blocked, however, by the eleventh hour candidacy of John De Vito, a Cleveland, O., rank-and-filer.

Must Find New Uses For Coal

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—(INS)—New uses for consumption of coal must be found, or western Pennsylvania faces probability of a decline in production, in the opinion of Joseph Pursglove, Jr., bituminous research expert.

Pursglove told a joint meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania last night that new mines will require much greater development and production costs.

He pointed out that low cost and better quality coal deposits are being rapidly exhausted, and added: "It may be of interest to know that a recent survey of the coal industry in western Pennsylvania reveals that approximately 30 per cent of the present mine capacity here will be exhausted within the next ten years and that there is little indication at this particular time that those worked-out mines will be replaced with newly-developed capacity."

PIERO PIEROTIC, Dalmatian baritone of concert, radio and opera fame abroad, made his initial bow to a New York audience in Carnegie Chamber Music Hall in October, 1940. Mr. Pierotic claims no child-prodigy reputation, for it was after his years in school and college when he was a marine officer in the Jugo-Slavian navy, that the Chicago opera tenor, Tino Pattiera, famous in Europe (Berlin, Dresden, Vienna, Prague, etc.) "discovered" him and advised him to study in Vienna and Rome with the celebrated baritone, Riccardo Stracciari.

He made his operatic debut in Czechoslovakia, was engaged by the Dresden Opera, sang in radio, concert and opera performances in European capitals and finally became a member of the state opera in Vienna where he made a deep impression in the baritone roles of Traviata, Boheme, Pagliacci, Cavalleria, Rigoletto and The Masked Ball.

His programs are made doubly interesting through the inclusion of a group of Dalmatian songs.

Concrete Pipe Award Made

City Council Buys 460 Feet Of Pipe To Control Water Course

OTHER ACTION AT COUNCIL SESSION

When council convened in the municipal building Monday award was made to the United States Concrete Pipe Company of America, of a contract for 460 feet of 36-inch reinforced concrete pipe at their low bid of $4.45 per lineal foot. The pipe is to be used to control an open water-course between Cedar street and the Pennsylvania railroad. The other bid, $4.89 per lineal foot, was submitted by the Concrete Products Company of America.

The motion to award the bid was submitted by Property Director Joseph D. Alexander which was seconded by Safety Director D. O. Davies. The roll call was unanimous.

Other Action

Council also instructed that the city treasurer, B. N. Hanlon, accept a check from an insurance company for $51.40, due for damage to a fire hydrant caused by the auto of Tony Frank R. D. 3.

An attorney has served notice on council that unless his client, hear from the carrier of city insurance, action in court will be brought, because of an accident in which a city fire truck allegedly was involved and injured five persons on the Mahoning avenue viaduct some time ago. The letter was referred to the legal bureau. The auto was owned by Louis Mrozek of Oakland.

Sgt. J. Fisher Jr. Funeral Tuesday

Body Of Lowellville Soldier, Who Was Killed Overseas, Arrives From Germany

Military funeral services for Sgt. Joseph R. Fisher, Jr., of 104 West Wood street, Lowellville, O., will be conducted Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock from the Holy Rosary church, Lowellville. Interment will take place in the Holy Rosary cemetery.

The body of Sgt. Fisher has arrived here from Germany. Sgt. Fisher died in action during the Battle of the Bulge in Belgium, January 23, 1945. He entered service in June, 1943, and served overseas for five months with Company F, 335th Infantry of the 84th Division.

Born February 13, 1925, in Lowellville, he was a son of Joseph and Josephine Beatrice Fisher, who both survive. The deceased was a graduate of Lowellville high school. His father is employed as secretary-treasurer of the Lowellville Savings and Banking company.

Survivors in addition to his parents include a sister, Miss Rose Fisher, at home, and a brother, Robert Fisher, a student at Notre Dame University.

Friends may call at any time this evening at the late residence.

Will Negotiate Plant Contract

Wednesday afternoon, November 12, at 3:30 o'clock, a meeting will be held between the committee representing the employees of the Pittsburgh Table Company, of West Pittsburgh, and John H. Grittie, staff representative of United Steelworkers of America, CIO, for the purpose of negotiating the company's first contract.

The new contract will be concerned with wages, hours of work, and other working conditions.

A new plant in this district, the Pittsburgh Table Company arrived here for location from Pittsburgh and manufactures tubular kitchen and lawn furniture.

Do You Make Your TIRES SQUEAL?

Here's a good way to alarm pedestrians. Come to an intersection at high speed, then jam on your brakes at the last minute. If your tires screech, foot traffic will really jump.

But if you don't want to scare the pedestrians, use courtesy. We've found that courteous drivers are careful drivers. We insure courteous drivers, may we insure you?
